OPENING OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Play in the annual national singles tennis championship tournament opened here today on the turf courts of the West Side Club with a record-breaking match between two youthful racquet wielders, Harold Throckmorton of Elizabeth, N. J., and Harold L. Taylor of New York. Throckmorton, who has passed out of his teens by just a year, defeated his 17-year-old opponent in a gruelling five-set match which required more than three hours to decide by scores of 6-8, 6-2, 1-3, 13-11, making a total of 51 games played. This supplants the national singles championship tournament record of eighty games made by Sufferin Taylor and Palmer Presby, who, in the tournament of 1888 at Newport won 80 games.

The match here this afternoon threatened an upset several times, for Taylor more than once was within a stroke or two of winning only to be outgamed by Throckmorton. The latter, who was one of the second ranking ten in 1916 showed his lack of practice early in the match and did not get his strokes working well until the contest was well into the third set. Taylor played remarkable tennis for so youthful an entrant and repeated fore-court rallies in which the players battled with but a few feet intervening, scenes the net brought rounds of applause from the galleries. Both victor and vanquished tired rapidly under the strain toward the end of play and Throckmorton's greater endurance and endurance were the winning factors.

The entire first round and a portion of the second was completed with the favorites in the various quarters of the draw coming through safely although the afternoon contests were featured both on the grandstand and outer courts by a number of matches containing clever sets, some of which went into double figures. The two Japanese entrants, Ichihya Kumagae and Sachihiro Kashio, won their matches without being hindered by the limit of their court resourcefulness. Kashio defeated Fred C. Anderson, one of the youthful experts of the metropolitan district, 6-1, 6-1. Kumagae disposed of Walter L. Fite, a tournament player of considerable ability, at 6-0, 6-4, 6-0. Kumagae's speed and placing was entirely too much for Fite while Kashio's steadiness and backhand play proved the undoing of Anderson. Sergeant Alex Graven, Pacific coast intercollegiate champion, fell to the greater experience, reach and power of Lyle E. Mahan of New York, at 6-1, 6-3, 6-3. Lieutenant H. G. M. Kelleher of Seattle defeated J. W. Anderson, a brother of Kashio's, at 6-4, 6-4, 7-5. The two prominent Chicago players, Ralph H. Burdick and Walter T. Hayes, advanced by easy victories over Herbert L. Brown and E. E. Cummings, respectively. R. Lindley Murray, winner of the 1917 patriotic tournament, also came through the first round without trouble, defeating Jack Dudley of Washington with the loss of but one game in three sets. Murray, however, showed his lack of practice and was both wild and erratic in his play, and was entirely too great for Dudley. Eugene I. Caltz of Atlanta, southern junior champion, was eliminated by A. H. Chapin in straight sets, while S. Cassella of Montreal, the only Canadian entrant, worked his way into the third round at the expense of J. S. O'Boyle at 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

A number of players also moved forward by default, including W. T. Tilden, Jr., of Philadelphia, national doubles champion with Vincent Richards; his partner, Richards, the present sensation among the younger set of players; Boals C. Wright, former internationalist and champion, and E. C. Simmons of the California Tennis Association.

Many of the players appeared at the club house in army or navy uniforms and the play generally showed that the great majority of the more prominent of the tournament experts were short of practice. This deficiency was so widespread that it did not make the matches in many cases one-sided and the galleries who were larger than at the opening day during the past few years of the tournament, was given an opportunity to follow exciting matches on many courts. Weather conditions were hard on the players, the temperature being high and the atmosphere very humid.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS ACTIVE.
New York, Aug. 26.—Investment rails and industrials of the more representative type registered new maximums for the year in today's stock market, a few specialties mounting to highest quotations in their history.

Gains were indifferently maintained, however, profit-taking and pressure from professional sources combining to effect general though moderate declines later.

The local money market was confusing, and last week's arrangement to stabilize call loans. So far as it made any offerings, the money pool held at six per cent, but banks still holding money announced a call rate at 4 1/2 per cent, on "bank acceptances."

U. S. Steel, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific embraced the more prominent shares at new high levels of the year, but reacted one to two points before noon. Steel's turnover aggregated almost one-third of the total up to the last hour.

Telephone and Telegraph issues, leathers, sugars, Corn Products, American and Canadian companies, comprising the leading stocks, all registered gains of 1 to 2 points, with fractional recessions at the end. Sales were 435,000 shares.

Liberty bonds were strong until the 2 1/2-2 3/4 began to ease. Foreign issues were featured by French government 5's, which advanced fractionally to 100 1/8, against the year's low of 94 3/4. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.
